District Holds A Celebration Of Excellence

On Thursday April 29, 2010 at Catto Community School at 5:30 p.m. the school district will honor the schools who have made AYP (Annual Yearly Progress) and Safe Harbor in at least one category (literacy or math) according to the No Child Left Behind guidelines.

This year, four schools made AYP including Met East High School, Forest Hill Elementary School, Dr. Charles E. Brimm Medical Arts High School and Creative Arts High School. They will receive special banners to hang in their schools and the principal will receive a special gift for their efforts.

Also being honored are 22 schools who made Safe Harbor this year in literacy or math.

Ten parents and administrators are invited from each school to join the Superintendent and Board of Education at a dinner to be held in the Catto Cafeteria after the program.
